| Families First Trust t/a Queenstown Lakes Family Centre | With an emphasis on social-emotional development from conception through to 18-years of age, the Queenstown Lakes Family Centre (QLFC) delivers evidence-based assessment, prevention and early intervention services for children and their families. Their aim is to promote wellbeing and develop resilience in children, in order to help them to grow into healthy functioning adults. QLFC receives a significant number of referrals each year for children suffering from the negative impacts of their mother's mental health problems. Research proves that postnatal depression and other maternal health problems lead to poor outcomes for children that can persist into adulthood. With this in mind the concept of the Pregnancy and You pilot project was developed. Proposed is a 12-month Health Promotion and Specialised Screening Programme designed to complement current maternal health services by supporting mental wellbeing. At confirmation of pregnancy, the GP will refer women for a 90-minute session where women are able to explore the impact of becoming a parent in a safe environment.
